MISSION
The NFL Player Care Foundation (PCF) is an independent organization dedicated to helping retired players improve their quality of life. PCF addresses all aspects of life by providing programs and assistance with medical, emotional, financial, social, and community issues.

PCF STATEMENT ON DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION
The NFL Player Care Foundation is committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in athletics and society at large. We fundamentally believe that all people deserve fairness, justice, opportunity, and equity. Our efforts promote an inclusive culture where persons’ differences are celebrated, and discrimination is not tolerated. We seek to promote an environment where society seeks to develop and promote healthy social and prosperous economic environments.
LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

This was a unique year for the Player Care Foundation (PCF), with the emergence from an ongoing global health crisis coupled with a new funding stream that provided more stability than ever before. As a result, unparalleled growth by way of new programs and improvements to existing programs allowed PCF to better fulfill its commitment to our mission.

An unwavering commitment to helping retired players improve their quality of life was a key focus of the Foundation. During this momentous year was the Board of Directors and staff, who once again worked tirelessly as servant leaders to drive growth and assist retired players amidst uncertainty, health crises and their own personal challenges. PCF’s resilience, diligence and dedicated effort spurred a year of incredible new programs that better served the retired player population.

I want to specifically recognize Mary Agee, George Branche, Dennis Cuman, Willie Lanier and Ken Scherer for their invaluable contributions to the growth and success of the Foundation since its creation, as they exit their board and officer positions and enter their next chapters. These individuals, who have permanently emblazoned themselves in the history of PCF, will be remembered with great appreciation.

Among PCF’s highlights of this past year was the reestablishment of the widely popular Healthy Body & Mind Screening after a COVID-19 hiatus. Mental health, too, saw noteworthy progress with the planning and relaunching of the Mental Health Symposium. Likewise, both the Sidler Living Fund (SLF) and Bereavement Support Fund (BSF) were created as a direct response to the ongoing needs of former players. As for the NFL-PCF Career Program, the 4th Annual Super Bowl Career Fair was the first to offer both remote and in-person access — extending its reach beyond the current site of each Super Bowl to NFL Legends across the globe.

Finally, as we move forward through this new year, I am confident that the momentum from this past year will carry us even further.

LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Highlighted by a spike in emergences from COVID-19 and the establishment of a stable and generous funding source — 2021 was a landmark year for the NFL Player Care Foundation. Our culture of creativity and collaboration driven by our unwavering commitment to improving the quality of life of former players resulted in new programs as well as expansions of existing programs.

As we regularly gauge the needs of former players, PCF recognized a need for two new programs: the Bereavement Support Fund (BSF) and Sober Living Fund (SLF). The BSF was created with the hope of fostering peace of mind and empathy for the grieving families by streamlining the application process. The SLF, also introduced this year, filled a crucial gap by providing grants for Legends needing transitional residential options while recovering from substance and alcohol use disorders. By providing a broader, more residential experience, prospects for maintaining long term sobriety are greatly enhanced — further cementing our ongoing commitment to serving those who contributed.

"I have had the privilege of watching PCF grow from a small nonprofit organization that primarily made grants to retired players into a multi-faceted nonprofit that supports retired players in a wide variety of ways. I look forward to seeing PCF continue to expand the services it provides to retired players, including in the areas of job training and career development, mental health support, and medical research."

FINANCIAL GRANTS

Through charitable grants from the NFL Foundation and the generous contributions from several NFL clubs and alliance members, the Player Care Foundation continues its financial assistance to former NFL players and their families who are in dire need. Since the first financial hardship grant in 2008, the Player Care Foundation has contributed over $20.9 million to 2,084 former NFL players to assist in their day to day living expenses, coordinated medical care, and mental health resources. In the most recent fiscal year the Player Care Foundation has distributed over $850,000 in financial grants to 136 former players.

Player Care Foundation grant applications adhere to the Foundation’s financial and NFL service time eligibility requirements and are considered on a case-by-case basis. Eligible retirees include NFL players with at least one credited season or two seasons as a practice squad player. Widows and children of deceased former NFL players, who would otherwise be eligible for support, may also apply.

“Player Care Foundation has been there for my family and me during times when I’ve needed help the most. I’ve dealt with nagging injuries and pain ever since my career ended. I applied for a PCF financial grant, and Valon Alford guided me through the process. She was very helpful and empathetic the entire time. The grant process was so smooth and the experience allowed me to purchase medical equipment which has significantly decreased my pain levels. That, in turn, has also improved my mental health and physical abilities. I know lots of former players are out there searching for resources, and I want them to know PCF is the answer we’ve been searching for. Again, I want to express my deepest gratitude to PCF and all the individuals that assisted me through this process, which has tremendously changed my life for the better.”

“I have thoroughly enjoyed my experiences at the Player Care Foundation (PCF) screenings. It is a great way to supplement regularly-scheduled doctor’s visits. There is comprehensive testing, which is helpful because there’s not always a siren that goes off when something is wrong in terms of one’s health. It was very well run, clean and efficient. If you need to speak to a doctor or have questions, someone is always there with an answer or to point you in the right direction. I also found that taking the results of the screening to my regular doctor’s visits makes my other appointments more worthwhile, too. Finally, it’s a wonderful way to build community. I always see guys I haven’t seen in a long time and meet with new former players. I’m grateful for this experience every time.”

HEALTHY BODY & MIND SCREENING PROGRAM

Since 2016, the Player Care Foundation has partnered with one of the nation’s premier medical providers – Tulane University School of Medicine – to conduct its Healthy Body and Mind Screening Program. Piloted in 2007, this program is a national screening program available to any former player who has ever been on an NFL roster. Each screening provides medical testing valued up to $10,000 at no cost to attendees. The screening program, which takes approximately two hours, is held at various private facilities, and includes cardiovascular, prostate, and mental health screening, along with comprehensive blood testing, body composition analysis and a coronary CT scan. These screenings have identified conditions which have inspired life-saving treatments of which former players were previously unaware.

PCF’s medical screenings are offered as part of the Foundation’s research efforts, helping to advance public awareness and scientific understanding of the specific health issues affecting former NFL players. The medical data collected at the screenings is studied to draw conclusions regarding the health of this group of elite athletes. De-identified data is then shared at national and international medical conferences. Research studies inspired by this collection of data have focused on sleep apnea, cardiovascular and blood pressure risks.

Healthy Body & Mind Screenings are typically held in 10 locations annually, rotating each year to screen as many former players as possible. Since its inception, the program has screened approximately 6,000 attendees in total.
Piloted in late 2018 in response to high levels of unemployment among PCF grant recipients, the NFL PCF Career Program has the goal of connecting NFL Legends with relevant job opportunities. Early in the inception of the NFL PCF Career Program, NFL partners demonstrated a strong interest in hiring former players. To help meet this demand for career education and job placement, PCF launched the Super Bowl Career Fair, which quickly evolved into a staple annual event.

To keep up with surging interest in its career offerings from NFL Legends and employers, the Foundation launched the NFL PCF Career Portal in May of 2020. The launch coincided with a time when our country grappled with record unemployment numbers amidst an unprecedented global health crisis. From the comfort of their own homes, NFL Legends now had a centralized, perpetual location where they could browse, apply, and interview for opportunities across the country with notable employers such as PepsiCo, FedEx Ground, Visa, Lowe’s, NBC Sports, and numerous NFL Clubs.

What began as a Career Portal that connected just a few NFL Legends with a few employers has now evolved into a platform that connects more than 1,300 NFL Legends with over 85 national employers. The inaugural Kickoff Career Fair, an entirely virtual fair that was inclusive to all NFL Legends around the globe, took place on September 9, 2021, in concert with the beginning of the 2021-22 NFL season.

To symbolize the end of the season, PCF orchestrated its 4th Annual Super Bowl Career Fair in February – a landmark, hybrid event that was the first of its kind to take place both virtually and in-person.

Another landmark of the Career Program was the establishment of the “NFL Players in Business Development Program” in the fall of 2021. In partnership with Visa, this 2-year paid rotational program exposed a cohort of NFL Legends to different departments across Visa. After a notable inaugural class, the second cohort will be announced later in 2022.

“I believe this innovative model is one that other employers will adopt in the years to come,” says Jason Cantor, Manager of Retired Player Programs at the NFL and creator of the PCF Career Program. Additionally, PCF facilitated nine virtual Information Sessions this fiscal year. These sessions – which featured several sponsors including PepsiCo, Rocket Companies, Visa, and more – allowed NFL Legends to learn about different industries and engage directly with talent acquisition teams about specific jobs.

Finally, an instrumental piece in the growth of the Career Program has been Atrium Workforce Solutions, which has allowed PCF to review, update and improve over 500 unique player resumes since its inception as well as diversify the array of Career Program features. With the help of Atrium and an unwavering commitment to the mission, the NFL PCF Career Program will continue to elicit significant ingenuity in 2022 and beyond.

Over the past year, PCF has dedicated time to expanding and progressing the growth of our behavioral health programs and services for former players and their families. It was an instrumental year of strategy and development, which has paved paths for new programming and a more thoughtful and intentional delivery of services. PCF’s newest program, the Sober Living Fund (SLF), was created for former players who are suffering from substance use and co-occurring disorders by providing sober housing while they continue to participate in treatment. The SLF complements existing programs by assisting former players in accessing primary treatment such as detox and inpatient treatment. It is our hope that sober living assistance will afford former players more time to participate in rehabilitation services which will foster a more positive recovery experience and achievement of sobriety.

PCF strives to offer and build meaningful programs and services; however, it is even more important to ensure these programs prioritize anti-racism and compassion. Therefore, PCF has taken the initiative to increase training and learning sessions for staff surrounding these important topics. In July 2021, PCF worked alongside the NFL Lifeline to provide crisis intervention training for its staff. Our goal is to provide information and education that can help former players to feel empowered while improving their quality of life.

During Mental Health Awareness Month in May 2022, we planned and hosted the 2022 NFL Spring Behavioral Health Forum. Our forum included participants from the NFL, NFLPA, Cigna, the NFL Lifeline, and stakeholders who work within the former player behavioral health space. The goal of the forum was to discuss the behavioral health implications of topics like race-based violence, racism, trauma, and COVID’s effect on the well-being of former players. The forum was unique in that it included frontline crisis workers and executive leadership to discuss trends and needs while also evaluating what we are doing well. We unpacked several key behavioral health topics from suicide to self-care, as well as the unique lens we must prioritize while advocating on behalf of a group mostly comprised of men of color.

As we move into 2022, PCF will maintain the momentum from 2021. We have invested in data analytics, which will better inform us of service and program needs of former players, as well as lead to future developments of service and education programs. We will also reignite the behavioral health screening program at the Healthy Body & Mind screenings, providing screenings for depression, anxiety, substance use and chronic pain. Ultimately, behavioral health is a key area of wellness that can impact other areas of life, including physical health, financial health, and family dynamics. We have activated solutions in real-time to address the needs of former players in the context of their human experiences.

“Transitioning away from the game is an ongoing process with unique challenges and opportunities. Working as a clinical social worker behind the scenes to assist former players in pivoting while creating a new normal is an incredibly important opportunity to me. At PCF, our behavioral health efforts have grown tremendously due to the courage and vulnerability of former players reaching out to express their needs. Every day, I’m fortunate to discuss issues like stigma and access to treatment with former players and their families while also creating solutions in the form of resources and services in real time. We provide education and support to those navigating through Cigna’s Employee Assistance Program, and this year we launched the Sober Living Fund, which supplements current programs to help former players access sober housing for up to three months to promote prolonged sobriety. I’m proud to be part of a team that is responsive to the needs of those we serve— and I look forward to our continued growth to improve the quality of life of former players as it relates to their mental health needs.”

“This world is evolving rapidly, and we need ongoing education and resources to keep up with the pace. Workshops centered around Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging (DEIB) are one way to keep up with the pace as they foster environments for dialogue. Ultimately, this information can become operationalized strategies. With that in mind, we must meet people wherever they are in their journey by offering the Framework of DEI: Awareness, Education, Process, Policies, and Finance. This framework, introduced during the November 2021 DEI Workshop, was well received and allowed participants to determine where they are embracing and where they want to go in the future.

As for PCF’s commitment toward DEI, their Racial Equity Committee (REC) is instrumental in engaging with individuals across the Foundation. Regardless of where someone is in their commitment to DEI, individual thoughts, perspectives, and lived experiences are welcome to work together to create a culture of inclusion. I applaud PCF for their involvement and investment in embracing diversity, equity, and inclusion.”

SOCIAL JUSTICE

The NFL Player Care Foundation recognizes the longstanding and continued impacts of systemic racism and race-based violence against communities of color. As an organization serving former NFL Players, most of whom are Black men and men of color, we understand how important it is to learn how to better support and serve the men and families we work with every day.

Since the nationwide Racial Reckoning of 2020 that was ignited by the brutal murder of George Floyd, our staff and board members have engaged in meaningful conversations about how to help bring attention to these issues as they directly impact the retired player community.

We at PCF have remained committed to serving former players’ needs by addressing and identifying qualitative, solution-driven strategies on race-related issues which affect the retired player population.

By partnering with leading diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging experts, undergoing a thorough internal examination of our practices and policies and creating a strategy for long-term impact – 2021 was a notable year for PCF.

Among the highlights of 2021 was a Diversity, Equity and Inclusion workshop facilitated by Dr. China Jude, Vice President of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion for the Denver Broncos. This interactive, all-staff workshop examined implicit bias, while also helping us identify our commitment to internal DEI efforts. To further find ways to integrate DEI into the day-to-day business operations, another notable step by the REC this past year was the addition of Roman Oben as an Advisor. In addition to being a PCF Board Member instrumental in the success of the Foundation, Roman’s background as an NFL Legend and experience in business strategies and scaling platforms provided the REC with the support necessary to explore meaningful ways to align with existing initiatives that support former players.

As PCF marches towards a brighter future, we will continue to explore ways to best support the former players, their families, and the issues that affect their communities as it relates to any racial or socioeconomic inequities.
BOARD MEMBER SPOTLIGHT: WILLIE LANIER

QUESTION 1:
What inspires you?
"Being part of an industry that showed me the character, the class, the honesty and the ethics to provide concern and true care for those who had spent part of their lives offering their unique skills out of love for the game. It gives me great joy to say that I was a part of an organization that holds the true desire to be helpful and to care for those who contributed to the greatest game on earth."

QUESTION 2:
What was your favorite achievement as a PCF BOD member?
"I assisted NFL Legends with the challenges of our journey - which can be a challenge for any of us. Thus, the opportunity to help influence a better journey for NFL Legends by breaking the stigma of needing assistance was a notable achievement of mine. Behind that achievement was the opportunity to have an impact in Kansas City as well as other areas around the country by sharing the challenges that former players face in life after the game. Additionally, helping create a PCF Board of Directors from around the country and across a multitude of industries - and helping those individuals see the humans behind the game - brings me great joy."

QUESTION 3:
What excites you about the future of PCF?
"Seeing the ongoing shift of support towards both the young men actively playing the game and those who are retired. The challenges of being a former player can be very real – and PCF has continued to evolve and provide assistance."

QUESTION 4:
As you move forward and cycle off the PCF BOD, do you have any final comments?
"I’d like to say to the owners of our business, who have the responsibility to be great stewards and uphold the integrity of our game, to always be mindful of the stature that programs and resources like Player Care Foundation must continue to have."

"I assisted NFL Legends with the challenges of our journey - which can be a challenge for any of us. Thus, the opportunity to help influence a better journey for NFL Legends by breaking the stigma of needing assistance was a notable achievement of mine. Behind that achievement was the opportunity to have an impact in Kansas City as well as other areas around the country by sharing the challenges that former players face in life after the game. Additionally, helping create a PCF Board of Directors from around the country and across a multitude of industries - and helping those individuals see the humans behind the game - brings me great joy."

QUESTION 3:
What excites you about the future of PCF?
"Seeing the ongoing shift of support towards both the young men actively playing the game and those who are retired. The challenges of being a former player can be very real – and PCF has continued to evolve and provide assistance."

QUESTION 4:
As you move forward and cycle off the PCF BOD, do you have any final comments?
"I’d like to say to the owners of our business, who have the responsibility to be great stewards and uphold the integrity of our game, to always be mindful of the stature that programs and resources like Player Care Foundation must continue to have."

In 1990, NFLPA Executive Director Gene Upshaw recognized that the transition from football was very challenging for former players. The PROFESSIONAL ATHLETES FOUNDATION (PAF) was founded to support, strengthen, and motivate players as they navigate the many obstacles of the transition of career and educational resources. Over 3,500 former players have received assistance through the Gene Upshaw Players Assistance Trust Fund (GU PAT). With over $21 million in financial, medical, and educational assistance granted to former players, the PAF is one of leading Foundations assisting NFL players. The organization and platform were created for and inspired by the players and their support networks. We hope you explore all that is possible with and through the PAF. We encourage you to reach out to discover how action creates opportunity.

The Tulane University School of Medicine in New Orleans is one of the nation’s most recognized centers for medical education, research, health care, and public service. The School of Medicine offers several programs designed to assess the health needs and provide world-class medical care to former NFL players.

The Tulane University School of Medicine is the medical and research partner in the NFL Player Care Foundation’s Healthy Body and Mind Screening Program, offering former NFL players cardiovascular and prostate screenings, as well as mental health services and education. In 2011, Tulane University School of Medicine and the NFL Player Care Foundation at the NFLPA formed the Tulane Center for Sport for men and women. The Tulane Center for Sport was formed and has been caring for retired professional athletes through partnerships with the National Football League and the National Football League Players Association. PACT’s unique care model — using athletic trainers to provide athletes a higher level of comfort and familiarity — is designed to meet the specific needs of former professional athletes. Privacy and transparency are hallmarks of the program, allowing professional athletes the freedom to discuss their health in a safe, trusting environment.

"As one of the original PCF Board members, what excites me about PCF’s future is the way in which it constantly evolves to serve former players and their families. The devoted but limited staff working with limited resources have found innovative solutions to significant and often complex human needs that are unique to former NFL players. It is this passion and dedication of the staff and the growing support from the League, Players Association, Hall of Fame, and Alumni Association that gives me confidence that the PCF will continue to be a beacon of hope for former NFL players now and in the future."

She has also played an instrumental role in curating and facilitating the 2022 NFL Spring Behavioral Health Summit during Mental Health Awareness Month. Valon also chairs PCF’s Social Equity Committee. The REC was created in 2020 in response to the murder of George Floyd in an effort to better understand the unique experiences of Black and Brown former players, as well as to advocate for policy change. In 2021, the REC worked with NASCAR to develop an antiracist culture. She has also helped create the Sober Living Fund, which helps former players to sober living in effective treatment and substance use disorder (SUD) treatment.

Andrew Wilson
LMSW
Secretary

Andrew Wilson is a partner at Faegre Drinker, where he serves as a member of the firm’s tax-exempt organizations practice group. In that role, Mr. Wilson counsels charities, private foundations, and investment vehicles and corporate law matters. He has worked with the NFL Player Care Foundation since its founding in 2007.

Nate Becknagel
LMSW, LCSW
Chief Clinical and Research Director

Nate Becknagel is currently the Clinical and Research Director for the Player Care Foundation. Nate’s prior experience with the NFL’s Career Connected Program allows him to effectively support the design, development, and delivery of PCF’s career transition and social service programs, with the goal of satisfying the emotional, financial, and health needs of former players. Nate leads PCF’s Behavioral Health Screening Program, clinical research, and clinical treatment partnerships. In the past, Nate served as a Mental Health Clinician with the Psychiatric Emergency Services in the University of Michigan Department of Psychiatry and as a Medical Social Worker at Saint Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, MI. Prior to becoming a medical social worker, Nate played baseball at the University of Michigan and with the Cleveland Guardians organization.
KERENSA STEPHENSON – Operations Coordinator
Kerensa Stephenson is a Coordinator for the NFL Player Care Foundation and NFL Management Council. Before joining the NFL, Kerensa worked as an Operating Coordinator in the financial industry specializing in operational and administrative technology, project management, and client relations. Kerensa leverages these skills with the Player Care Foundation in processing account verifications for financial grants, and assists in coordinating special projects and events. A Toronto native now living in Brooklyn, NY, Kerensa is a certified IT Support Specialist pursuing studies in Data Analytics. Kerensa’s goal is to apply data-driven insights to assist in designing Player Care program solutions and services for retired players. In her free time, Kerensa enjoys exploring her Brooklyn neighborhood, trying new restaurants, and attending live music events. Her favorite place to travel is New Orleans, where she enjoys being a foodie and watching her favorite NFL team, the New Orleans Saints, play.

A.J. FORBES – Program Coordinator
A.J. Forbes serves as a coordinator for the NFL PCF Career Program. In this role, A.J. spearheads Career Portal expansion efforts, assists with the planning and execution of career fairs, and ultimately aims to improve the quality of life of retired NFL players through sustainable career opportunities. While working at PCF, A.J. earned his Master of Business Administration (MBA) and Master’s in Sports Business Management (MSBM) from the University of Central Florida in December of 2021, where he served as a lead graduate assistant for Dr. Richard Lapchick at The Institute for Diversity and Ethics in Sport (TIDES) and led efforts on Racial and Gender Report Cards for various professional leagues, including the NFL. Prior to PCF, the Iowa-native and oldest of four received his undergraduate degree from the University of Northern Iowa before relocating to Washington, DC, for an internship with The Trust (Powered by the NFLPA). A.J. is also a member of PCF’s Racial Equity Committee (REC).

In September of 2021, PCF welcomed Milton “Milt” Carthens to the staff as a social work intern through the University of Michigan’s School of Social Work. Impressively, Milt decided to obtain his Master of Social Work degree at the age of 60 after working in the field for more than 30 years at the bachelor level. Milt was the first person in his family to obtain a graduate degree, and it was important to him to set an example for his children and grandchildren.

As a former NFL player, he brought a new and unique perspective to the PCF staff, and he quickly made an impact on everyone. Milt worked in community mental health for many years, and he was diligent about advocating for his clients in practical ways. His presence was infectious, he carried a huge smile and an even bigger heart. What we remember most was the incredible kindness, patience, and compassion he displayed every day.

Unsurprisingly, we would later learn that everyone who knew Milt saw him in the same light. He was incredibly passionate about his work and was a strong advocate for under-resourced, predominantly Black communities in his native city of Pontiac, Michigan, and the surrounding Detroit communities.

In addition to working at various agencies earlier in his career, Milt worked as a high school football coach at a local high school to motivate youth from communities like Pontiac. He was an incredibly proud supporter of the University of Michigan, his alma mater and where he played college football. He served as a board member for the Football Alumni of Michigan (FAM), a group that provides financial assistance to football alumni in need. However, nothing was more important than Milt’s faith and family, and he would often speak volumes about his wife, children, and grandchildren.

Milt was a great husband, father, grandfather, friend, teammate, and colleague, and he will be greatly missed.
